WHAT IS TEA?

Tea is an aromatic beverage prepared by pouring hot water over processed leaves from the Camellia sinensis plant. The beverage has a long international history that first started in China. Originally, tea was used for medicinal purposes but eventually began to gain popularity as a recreational beverage.

HOW MANY TYPES OF TEA ARE THERE?

Since tea is enjoyed across the globe, there are thousands of varieties to choose from. However, each variety falls under one of six categories: black, green, yellow, white, oolong, pu-erh (dark) and herbal teas. Sip and enjoy one of our 28 curated teas.

WHIMSICAL WHITES

SILVER NEEDLE
Originally from Yunnan Province, China, this tea has a light floral aroma of orchids and a delicate but sweet flavour.

LYCHEE, VANILLA AND ROSE
White tea, rose petals, lychee and vanilla. An exotic blend of florals, delicate fruits, and notes of vanilla bean.

HEMP WHITE NIGHT
Hemp, white tea, tulsi, nettle leaf, rose petals and jasmine flower. Treat yourself to the antioxidants of white tea, nettle, and vitamin C.

GLORIOUS GREENS

Green tea provides a rich and natural source of antioxidants such as polyphenols, flavonoids and catechins and is bursting with plant-based goodness. Used in traditional Chinese, Indian and Japanese medicinal practices for centuries, it's time to drink your greens.

HUA SHAN MAO FENG
Fragrant and refreshing with light, sweet, vegetal notes, this green tea has flavour notes of fresh roasted almonds.

JASMINE PEARLS
These delicate, hand rolled pearls are from Fujian and have a sophisticated jasmine flavour. The tea is layered seven times with fresh jasmine flowers to produce the unique flavour and aromatic blend of green tea and jasmine.

PEACH BELLINI
A blend of green tea, freeze dried raspberries and stone fruits, this tea blend is energising and refreshing.

YUMMY YELLOWS

Hailing from China with ancient influences, yellow tea is rare with a soft and delicate yet floral aroma and a unique mellow flavour. The cousin of green and white tea, the tea leaves are wrapped in wet paper or cloth to induce a mild oxidation process through steaming. The leaves are then oxidised for up to three days producing a yellowing effect.

HUANG DA CHA
Also known as the 'coffee of tea'. During processing, the tea is heavily roasted and undergoes further processing which results in the unique flavour, similar to a mild coffee.

HUO SHAN YELLOW BUD
An imperial tribute tea that has been made in China since the Ming dynasty. Like with many yellow teas, the processing method was lost – however it was recovered during 1972. The yellow colour is produced by spreading the tea indoors in three separate rounds.

OH LA LA OOLONGS

Oolong boasts many health benefits and tickles the tastebuds with complex undertones and tantalising hints of black and green tea flavours. A little introverted, oolong tea was traditionally drunk by Chinese people for centuries. With light green tea notes spilling over with floral and vegetal flavours, this tea will make you say ooooh!

FORMOSA ORIENTAL BEAUTY
Lightly oxidised with delicious fruit and honey notes, this oolong tea produces a sweet, light, golden sip. Known as the Champagne of oolongs, we say cheers to that!

OOLONG CHARDONNAY
Oolong tea, papaya chips, orange peel, cinnamon chips, rose petals, vanilla bean and natural wine flavours. A hand blended and lightly roasted oolong bursting with light spice and fruit notes finished with soft rose and vanilla beans. The natural chardonnay notes add an unexpected flavour kick.

BOLD BLACKS

The world is your oyster as each black tea has a completely different taste. Strong, full-bodied and bold flavours are paired with notes of honey, malt, chocolate, toast and caramel. Pick your poison.

BRINDABELLA BLACK
A unique blend of black teas, where muscatel and floral notes meet caramel and anise.

WAKE UP CANBERRA
